About the blog

Rachel's Ruminations is a travel blog emphasizing independent travel to historical and cultural sights/sites. Most articles focus on one place or experience at a time, offering an honest personal perspective as well as useful information.

About Rachel

Rachel H is a writer, blogger and teacher-trainer living in Groningen, the Netherlands. Born and raised in the US and educated at Yale, she met her Dutch husband when she served in the Peace Corps in Malawi. Their two children are grown, so they have entered the "empty nest" phase of their lives, leaving more time for independent travel.
